

'Achieving Outstanding under the new Ofsted Inspection Framework'

You are invited to a CPD opportunity at Ashington High School Sports College, inspected as part of a subject survey inspection in PE over 2 days on the 26th and 27th of November 2009.

An overall effectiveness judgement of outstanding was the outcome of the inspection, with the PE Department also gaining outstanding judgements in all areas of the inspection process:

"Learning and progress are outstanding. Students are highly committed to PE and sport. They concentrate hard and are determined to improve. They are confident when working independently. Participation rates are high and behaviour is very good."

"An exceptionally positive learning ethos is well established and relationships between students and staff are very positive. Students are fully engaged and they say that lessons are fun and challenging."

"The curriculum is planned exceptionally well and meets students' needs very well. A very rigorous approach to monitoring and evaluation results in improvement plans that are focused clearly on priorities and outcomes for students."

"Leadership demonstrates an exceptionally strong commitment to inclusion and success for all in its broadest sense. The highly committed team shares the values of this sports college and continually strives to find ways to use sport and PE to develop the whole student."

Ofsted 2009

Led by our Director of Sport and Head of PE, each day aims to explore:

- The inspection process, what does the new Ofsted framework look like in practice
- Organising a PE curriculum that meets and challenges learner needs
- Leading change, creating a culture of excellence
- Monitoring, tracking and evaluation, using data to inform improvement
- Using lesson observations to drive up standards
- Supporting staff development, meeting CPD needs from NQT to SLT

Delegates will also have opportunities to:

- Look at PE in practice and put discussion into context
- Meet and talk with small groups of students
- Engage in table top discussions during a working buffet style lunch with a range of members of the PE Dept including SLT, Head of and Second in Dept, Heads of Year who teach in PE, NQTs in PE, and support staff within PE.

"The outcome of this inspection was a fantastic achievement for Ashington High School and our PE department and we welcome the opportunity to share our work with colleagues from other schools"

Rob Kitching, Principal
